

The European Respiratory Journal presents the thirty-third in its series of podcasts. In this recording, Prof. Robert Bals talks to ERJ chief editor Marc Humbert about The European Respiratory Society fellowship programme, and how this programme is supporting the careers of and building networks among young scientists and medics.