

The European Board of Accreditation in Pneumology (EBAP): reflections on 20 years promoting excellence in continuing medical education (CME) in respiratory medicine

Georgia Hardavella¹, Mona Lichtblau ², Alf Henrik Andreassen³, Jamil Jubrail⁴, Edin Jusufovic⁵, Ortrud Karg⁶, Laurent Nicod⁷, Angelo Petroianni⁸ and Paolo Palange⁹

¹9th Department of Respiratory Medicine, 'Sotiria' Athens Chest Diseases Hospital, Athens, Greece. ²Department of Respiratory Medicine, University Hospital of Zurich, Zurich, Switzerland. ³Department of Research and Development, Haukeland University Hospital, Bergen, Norway. ⁴Faculty of Sport, Health and Social Sciences, Solent University, Southampton, UK. ⁵Department of Internal Medicine, Medical Faculty, University of Tuzla, UNTZ, Tuzla, Bosnia and Herzegovina. ⁶Educational Affairs, German Respiratory Society, Berlin, Germany. ⁷Service of Pneumology, CHUV, Lausanne, Switzerland. ⁸Pulmonology Unit, Department of Public Health and Infectious Diseases, Policlinico Umberto I, Sapienza University of Rome, Rome, Italy. ⁹Department of Public Health and Infectious Diseases Sapienza University of Roma, Rome, Italy.

Corresponding author: Georgia Hardavella (georgiahardavella@hotmail.com)

Shareable abstract (@ERSpublications)

EBAP holds a central overarching position across Europe and overseas as an independent accreditor of training centres and educational activities with transferable and recognised CME/CPD points across countries <https://bit.ly/3uZb5WT>

Cite this article as: Hardavella G, Lichtblau M, Andreassen AH, et al. The European Board of Accreditation in Pneumology (EBAP): reflections on 20 years promoting excellence in continuing medical education (CME) in respiratory medicine. Eur Respir J 2023; 61: 2202231 [DOI: 10.1183/13993003.02231-2022].

This single-page version can be shared freely online.

Copyright ©The authors 2023.
For reproduction rights and permissions contact permissions@ersnet.org

Received: 30 Nov 2022
Accepted: 10 Dec 2022

Advances in respiratory medicine have presented a clear need for the continuous training and accreditation of health professionals, as well as of institutions providing and delivering care to respiratory patients.